

Life in Camp

Junior Forest Ranger Camps

Life in camp is a rustic lifestyle and Leaders do their best to make the experience comfortable. Positive attitude and teamwork is essential for an enjoyable camp experience.

Daily Schedule

Every camp is a little different, but this is generally what you can expect:

06:15	Rise up and greet the sun!
06:30	Morning Fitness
07:00	Breakfast
08:00	Depart for Work Project
12:00	Lunch
16:30	Return to Camp
17:00	Dinner
18:00	Camp chores, evening programs, campfire
22:00	Camp Quiet

Leisure Time

- ✓ Evenings typically include time to complete daily chores followed by an activity or free time.
- ✓ Weekends are "no work" days however part of Saturday is scheduled for time in the local community "catching up" on laundry and personal affairs.
- ✓ Sunday is usually a scheduled recreational day for the crew (hike, beach day, etc).

Safety smart, from the start!

The Junior Forest Ranger (JFR) program ensures the safety of all participants by several measures:

- ✓ Crew leaders receive intensive 10-day, program-specific training.
- ✓ Each work project begins with a safety meeting to address hazards at each worksite.
- ✓ During the first two weeks, members are given training on safe work conditions, work habits and use of tools and equipment.
- ✓ All accidents and incidents are addressed and investigated immediately.
- ✓ Junior Forest Rangers are not permitted to drive government vehicles or bring personal vehicles to camp.

Visitors

Permission from the area manager or program specialist is required before inviting guests to camp.

Are You Ready?

The Junior Forest Ranger camp-based program has many rewards and recognizes a number of challenges! Before you apply, you should know:

- ✓ It's hard work.
- ✓ You will be expected to follow direction and rules.
- ✓ You will be away from home for seven weeks with limited contact with family and friends.
